Sietze Dijkstra is Global Industry Leader for Government, IBM Global Business Services. Sietze has extensive experience in government transformation projects and innovative solutions that create value for citizens. He is also responsible for the industry solution portfolio offered to central and local government clients around the world.